LITTLE JOHNNY JONES.

The music of "Little Johnny Jones" is said to be one of its most attractive features, and among the most popular numbers are "Yankee Doodle Boy," "Give My Regards to Broadway," "Mlle. Fanchette," "They're All My Friends," "Girls of the U. S. A.," "Good Old California," "Captain of a Ten Day Boat," "Nesting in a New York Tree," "Life's a Funny Proposition after All." The company numbers over sixty people, including a chorus of forty and a cast of exceptional excellence. No musical production of the current season excels in beauty and magnificence "Little Johnny Jones," and it is only reasonable to expect that the theater will be crowded on the occasion of its presentation in this city, Wednesday, February 7th. Seats are selling fast; better secure yours now.

MRS. WILHELMENIA MORRISSEY.

Mrs. Wilhelmenia Morrissey died at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Ed Lally, of Mill-creek, yesterday at 7:30 o'clock, after an illness of several weeks.

Mrs. Morrissey was born in Hockels, Hanover, Germany, in 1829, coming to Cincinnati in 1854 and to Mayslick in 1856, where she had since resided.

Her maiden name was Schrader. She leaves one sister, living in Germany, and two sons—Messrs. Frank Gaebke of Covina, Cal., and Louis T. of this city, and one daughter, Mrs. Rector Lukins of Mayslick.

The family have the sympathy of their many friends in their sorrow.

The funeral will occur Thursday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Rose of Lima Church, Mayslick.

Burial at Washington Cemetery.

CHARLES C. GAULT.

Mr. Charles C. Gault, who has been ill for several weeks at the home of his sister, Mrs. Thomas L. Best, near this city, passed away at 3:15 this morning.

Deceased was 45 years of age and was related to many of Mason county's most prominent families.

Upon the establishment of the rural mail delivery here Mr. Gault became one of the Carriers, and his clever and jovial disposition made him one of the most popular.

Later he assumed a clerical position in the local Postoffice, which ill health compelled him to give up after a short time.

Surviving him are three sisters and one brother—Mrs. Thomas L. Best, Mrs. John Caldwell and Mrs. Robert Barnes—the latter two residing at Millersburg—and Mr. W. W. Gault.

The funeral will take place from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Best at 10:30 tomorrow morning, the Rev. F. K. Struve of the First M. E. Church, South, conducting the services.

The interment will be in the Cemetery at Washington.

THAT Auditor's Agent's Attorney, Mr. CASON, who has been nosing through the records in County Clerk Wood's office, claims to have found many thousands of dollars belonging to sundry Maysville people. Dig on, "Casy," old boy; maybe you'll find the thousand or two that I wish I had.

THE City Council of Ashland revoked the licenses of three saloon-keepers who had violated the law; and one of the saloonists and a pair of his beer-slingers took revenge by black-jacking Policeman BARNEY. When they are caught they should be compelled to caress the rockpile with napping-hammers for a few months.

HERE'S a winner in the meanest man contest. Mrs. A. J. WILSON, who had $2,000, the savings of fourteen years labor as attendant at the Lunatic Asylum at Lexington, gave the money to her husband to invest in the furniture business. He "invested" of course, but he sold out the shop, pocketed the proceeds, and now the poor wife asks the police to find him.

THE Educational Bill proposes, among other things, a division of the School Fund, giving to the white schools the taxes paid by the white men, and to the Negro schools only that revenue paid by Negroes. If this becomes law, and is applied in Maysville, there'll probably be enough money to run the Colored School for two or three weeks in the year.

THE State Printer charged $28,000 for 19,000 school records, which other printers swore were worth not over $3,000. The "economical" and competent Printing Commissioners paid the bill without question; and a Court has decided that there is no relief for the state.

THE State of Kentucky sued the Globe Printing Company of Louisville to recover an overcharge of $25,000 on a job of printing which would have been dear at $3,000 in the first place, and the Franklin Circuit Court says that the Printing Commission passed on the bill, allowed it, and that there is no appeal from its decision. Oh, how we uns do like to pay taxes for the benefit of the grafters.

THE member of Congress who declares that the Government "licenses" persons to sell whisky in Prohibition districts, or anywhere else, should be carrying a hod instead of making laws—and he's hardly got sense enough to tackle the hod. The Government requires a "special tax" before one can sell whisky anywhere; and it is specifically stated that the payment of such special tax does not prevent a prosecution on the part of local authorities for violation of local laws. It is true that thousands of liquor sellers pay this "special tax" in Prohibition districts—even in the Prohibition state of Maine there are 740 who do so,—and the reason is that they fear the Federal laws, while they don't care a rap for the state and county authorities.

Henry returned in triumph from an examination "How did you get along, my son?" his doting parent inquired.
 "First rate," answered Henry, "I answered all the questions."
 "Good! How did you answer them?"
 "I said I didn't know."

 The Court of Appeals Friday, Judge Settle writing, upheld the judgment of the Mason Circuit Court in a case of Lewis Howard against the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company. The action was for damages for injuries sustained. The Court below gave peremptory instructions to find for the defendant company, and the Appellate Court in affirming says the accident was due to no negligence upon its part.

BATTLE OF FRANKLIN

A True Account Written By General George W. Gordon to Correct Some Previous Errors

Lexington Herald.

To the Editor of The Herald: During the past autumn The Herald copied, without comment, from a Northern publication an exploitation of General Schofield's record, stating that at the battle of Franklin he, "with 30,000 men, completely routed almost double that number under General John B. Hood." Having participated in that sanguinary conflict, I was surprised at the unjust estimate by a critic who was probably in embryo, or not born, at the time; at any rate, he was not there.
 Knowing General George W. Gordon whose word is good North and South on account of his fairness and conservatism—was the youngest and one of the most gallant Brigadiers engaged at Franklin, I wrote to him for his story of the battle, to be published in answer to the absurd statement that 60,000 Confederates under leaders like Hood, Hardee, Cleburne, Forrest, Cheatham and others could be "routed" anywhere, even by Oyama, at the head of 60,000 Japs. General Gordon tells the truth, with full justice to the gallantry of Schofield and his men.
 I saw the body of General John Adams's horse dead across the breastworks, fore feet on one side the crest, hind feet on the other. Partially in the saddle still was the body of that heroic Mississippian. As to the brave and fallen Confederates, their "rage" showed for themselves. In the haversacks of all I saw examined afterwards were nothing but ears of parched corn.
 But the dead and wounded thirteen general officers and 6,000 privates, all in thirty minutes, tells a story more eloquent than words.
 C. E. MERRILL,
 Lexington, Ky.

BATTLE OF FRANKLIN, TENN.
 By General George W. Gordon of Memphis, Tenn.
 The opposing forces in the battle of Franklin were not largely unequal in numbers, the Confederates under General Hood actually engaged being 19,000 infantry, and the Federals, under General Schofield, about 22,000. And in this connection it must be remembered that while the Confederates had the smaller number by 3,000, they were the attacking force, and that the Federals were so well fortified on parts of their line as to render one man defending equal to about four attacking. But notwithstanding this vast advantage on the part of the Federals, their main and most formidable line of defense was broken in the general charge by the left of Gordon's Brigade of Brown's Division formerly Cheatham's Division under the valiant leadership of Colonel Horace Rice, commanding the Eleventh and Twentieth Tennessee Infantry Regiments, and some of his men being killed fifty or more paces within the enemy's line, and Rice himself being wounded after he had crossed the breastworks. But at this critical juncture, and before the rout could be made general, General Ordpyke's Brigade of Federal reinforcements arrived at the opportune moment in front of Rice and the small and shattered force he was leading, and pressed them back to the works they had stormed and taken, but which they held till the Federals retreated during the night. It is not true that the Confederates were routed in this battle. It is true, however, that they were repulsed along some portions of the line, especially on the extreme Confederate left. But it is also true that on other portions of the line, notably in front of Brown's and Cleburne's Divisions, the Confederates reached the ditches just on the outside of the enemy's works and held them until the recorded of this intensely tragic battle, that justice has not yet been done to the prowess and intrepidity of the armies that participated in that bloody conflict. It offers material for a thrilling chapter in the martial annals of the world. It is true, that in respect to the numbers engaged it does not compare with many of the great battles of the Civil War. But in respect to the spirit, courage and desperation with which it was fought, it has not been surpassed, if even paralleled, by any combat on American soil. In support of this the following statistics are cited, and show that the casualties in this battle, especially on the Confederate side, were appalling. In general and field officers, especially, they were greater in proportion to the numbers engaged than in any battle of the war.

Six Confederate general officers were killed, six wounded and one captured. A total of thirteen. Of the four Brigadier Generals of Brown's Division of Hardee's Corps, Carter, Gist and Strahl were killed, and Gordon captured and Major General Brown severely wounded, and his Division commanded the next day by a Colonel. Major General Cleburne and Brigadier General Granberry of his Division were killed. Major General John Adams of General Stewart's Corps was killed, while Generals Cockrill, Quarles, Scott, Manigault, Brown and one other general officer, whose name I cannot now recall, were wounded. Thirteen Regimental commanders were killed, thirty-two wounded and nine captured. Besides these, many other field and line officers were killed and wounded, and about 6,000 of the rank and file lay dead or disabled on the field at the close of that dark and deadly day. The Federal loss, I think, was about one-third of that of the Confederate and reasonably so, as the Federal forces, for the most part, were in formidable breastworks, covered and crowned upon some portions of their line with effective "head-logs" that afforded a great measure of actual protection, to say nothing of that reassuring and steady sense of safety that they inspired.

The Confederate infantry forces actually engaged lost 33%, while in its famous charge at Gettysburg, Pickett's Division lost only 21%, or 12% less than that sustained by the entire Confederate infantry engaged in the battle of Franklin, and in which Cleburne's Division lost 52%, the greatest loss sustained by any Division.

Military statistics of foreign and American battles, as compiled by Lieutenant-Colonel Dodge, of the United States Army, show the following losses: Prussians, up to Waterloo, in eight battles, 18%; Austrians, up to Waterloo, in seven battles, 11%; and since, in two battles, 8%; French, up to Waterloo, in nine battles, 22%; and since, in nine, nearly 9%; English, in four battles, 10%; Federals, in eleven battles, nearly 13%; and the Confederates, in eleven battles, 14%; and we show in the battle of Franklin 33%.

These statistics indicate that the battle of Franklin was the bloodiest of modern times. It is true, there was no strategy, no maneuvering for advantage preliminary to joining the issue. It was simply a direct physical assault by the Confederate Army upon a fortified and strongly manned position—a trial of strength and courage, with the physical advantage largely in favor of the Federals. And while the result was unimportant in its bearing upon the final issue of the war, yet, as illustrating the spirit and prowess of the American soldier no battle of those four booming and blazing years is more remarkable. And if it had been fought on the battle-scarred and grave billowed bosom of Old Virginia, where so many brilliant battles were fought and great victories won, where tactical science and martial genius achieved their grandest triumphs, we doubt not that the story of its valor would have been written at the very top of all American military history.

The School Fund received during the month, from fines and poll tax, $52.20.

City Agent John J. O'Donnell reported $276.81 as amount of back taxes collected during the month of January. His commission amounted to $55.36.

Mr. Thomas B. Carothers, representing a long distance telephone company desiring an entrance into the city, was granted the privilege of being heard by Council. He stated he was negotiating with President Matthews of the local system in regard to coming in over his lines. The matter was referred to the Laws and Ordinance and Grievance Committees with Mayor and City Attorney added.

The proposition of Downing and Prall for introducing natural gas for heating and cooking purposes was tabled.

The President of the Board of Trade, Mr. John Duley, accompanied by a delegation of business men, appeared before Council. Mr. Duley as spokesman said it was the desire of the business community to cultivate a more intimate relation with our Ohio neighbors, and in order to do so he asked Council to give Wharfmaster Pfister a rebate on his monthly collection of wharfage to the amount of $93 per month, in consideration of which he is to give free ferrisage every County Court Day. The steps leading up to Sixth street by the Colored School were ordered looked after.

The Chief of Police was instructed to notify R. M. Wallingford to remove his carts and wagons from the street.

Adjourned.

Rev. J. M. Evans is engaged in a meeting with Rev. S. D. Boggs at Normal, midway between Caledonia and Ashland. These places are connected by streetcars. A proposition has been made to consolidate the cities and locate the county seat at Normal. The meeting has been one of great interest from the first night, when the seating capacity of the Church was exhausted. The interest has been twenty-eight additions to the Presbyterian Church, with many more deeply concerned about their personal acceptance of the Savior.

WILD WITH ITCHING HUMOR

Eruption Broke Out in Spots All Over Body—Caused a Continual Itching for Two Years—Doctor's Medicine Did no Good—Cured at Expense of only $1.25 and Now

THANKS CUTICURA FOR COMPLETE CURE

"Some time ago I wrote you for a book on the Cuticura Remedies and received it O. K. and went and bought the Soap, Ointment, and Pills. They did me more good than any medicine I ever used. They cured me of my skin disease, and I am very thankful to you. My trouble was eruption of the skin, which broke out in spots all over my body, and caused a continual itching which nearly drove me wild at times. I got medicine of a doctor, but it did not cure me, and when I saw in a paper your ad., I sent to you for the Cuticura book and I studied my case in it. I then went to the drug store and bought one cake of Cuticura Soap, one box of Cuticura Ointment, and one vial of Cuticura Pills. From the first application I received relief. I used the first set and two extra cakes of Cuticura Soap, and was completely cured. I had suffered for two years, and I again thank Cuticura for my cure. If you wish, you may publish this. Your friend forever, Claude N. Johnson, Maple Grove Farm, R. F. D. 2, Walnut, Kan., June 15, 1905."

THE PATIENCE OF JOB

Could Hardly Endure the Torment of Itching Piles.

Itching piles is constant torment—so is eczema.

No comfort all day, no rest at night.

Can't keep your mind on work.

No use to go to bed.

Suffer no longer; use Doan's Ointment. It gives relief in five or ten minutes. It cures in a short time—cures you to stay cured.

Maysville people endorse it.

Mrs. S. F. Tolle, of 117 Short street, Maysville, Ky., says:

"Before I used Doan's Ointment, in March 1900, I had suffered for a long while with itching hemorrhoids. I had tried persistently to rid myself of the trouble but without success, and anybody who has known the tortures of this complaint will understand what I suffered. Doan's Ointment, procured at J. J. Wood & Son's Drugstore, cured me, as stated in a testimonial given at that time, and during the five years past I have had no return of the trouble. It required only one box to bring this gratifying result. I have used Doan's Ointment for other purposes, and find that it is a specific for skin troubles and all itching diseases."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.
